

2012 International Conference of Logistics Engineering and Management

Background

The International Conference of Logistics Engineering and Management (ICLEM), jointly sponsored by Southwest Jiaotong University and the American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE), is one of the most influential conferences in the field of logistics research and applications. To cope with the protracted global economic crisis, China is challenged in the 12th Five-Year Plan to undertake transformation of the mode of development. In order to better promote academic communication and international cooperation, and assist the development and applications of Chinese logistics engineering and management in support of China's next five-year development plan, the 2012 International Conference of Logistics Engineering and Management (ICLEM2012) will be held for Chinese and overseas professionals, scholars, entrepreneurs and government officials to exchange opinions, share experiences, present innovative ideas, and showcase research and application findings. Built on the success of the preceding international conferences (ICCLTP 2008 and ICLEM2010), in which all accepted conference papers have been published by American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE) and fully indexed by Engineering Index (EI), Southwest Jiaotong University will host ICLEM2012 from October 8-10 of 2012 in Chengdu, China. The ICLEM2012 conference proceedings will continue to be published in the ASCE database for collection by the Engineering Index (EI).

Theme of Conference

The theme of this conference is "Green Logistics, Harmonious World".

Paper Format

Authors are invited to submit simple abstract (or full papers, see below for timeline) that are relevant to the conference topics. Abstract and full papers are all required to be written in English and the length of papers is limited to 6 pages (A4, 1.5 spacing, font size 12). The document should be in Microsoft Word format. The paper format guideline can be downloaded from the conference website.

Abstract should include article title, author name, contact details, main content synopsis and key words.

Peer Review Process

Full papers will be invited after the abstracts are approved by the conference organizing committee. All papers will be reviewed by at least three experts selected by the conference academic committee comprised of Chinese and overseas professionals.
